This past Monday, 26-year-old Bella Hadid has yet again dropped our jaws. At the 16th Annual Golden Heart Awards at The Glasshouse in New York City, she showed up in an elegant metallic gold dress right off the Michael Kors Spring/Summer 2023 runway, to accept her award for mental health advocacy.

Bella Hadid paired this plunging neckline, long sleeved, sequined dress, with strappy heels and statement earrings. Her hair was styled in a simple slicked back low bun, with dewy makeup to achieve a soft glam Hollywood look for this award ceremony.

Bella Hadid received such an award for how she shares her mental health struggles quite openly on social media as well as in interviews. Her mom, Yolanda Hadid was at the event as well to support and honor Bella for her achievements in mental health issues.

Overall, I wanted to emphasize how diverse Bella Hadid is when it comes to style. She can go from soft Hollywood glam to streetwear to a spray on white latex dress on the runway. She is constantly making trends and history with her endless fashion statements and runway appearances.
